REPUBLICAN RALLY.

...ke Taken by the Young Men's Republican Club.

State, Judicial and Legislative Tickets Endorsed.

Speeches by Candidates and Prominent Citizens.

The Gathering Large, Enthusiastic and Confident.

...e Young Men's Republi... Colorado Springs held ... Court House last night ... nomination of the candidates of the ... party and of county con... It was well ... that it was ... of the most successful and enthusiastic political demonstrations ever held in the county. All of the speakers of the evening were able and many of them were ... and the most unbounded confidence prevailed throughout the demonstration.

At an early hour in the evening a crowd began to gather in front of the ... and at eight o'clock when the Fire... started up the street at the head of a ... route composed of carriages in which were seated the prominent speakers of the evening followed by the members of the Club marching two abreast.

Proceeding to court house hall the persons composing the parade entered and took seats. The seating capacity of the house was soon exhausted and many were the late-comers who had to stand up. There was a ... of ladies in the audience.

President ... H. Kinsley called the meeting to order and after the transaction of routine business introduced State Senator John Campbell, candidate for ... of the Fourth judicial district.

Mr. Campbell spoke for about ten or fifteen minutes touching upon the issues of the campaign and referred to the good qualities of the candidates on both the state and local tickets. Mr. Campbell expressed the opinion that the democratic party did not expect to elect any of its candidates on the state ticket, but intended to concentrate its forces in the election of members of the legislature with the expectation of afterwards electing a democratic United States senator.

Following Mr. Campbell President Kinsley spoke for a short time reviewing the history of the democratic party. Mr. Kinsley believed that the returns from the state elections so far held indicated the tendency of the voters to act with the republican party in the coming election.

The president introduced Hon. Chas. E. Noble who spoke at some length regarding the fitness of the candidates on the judicial and legislative tickets to claim the suffrages of the voters of the county. Mr. Noble stated that he understood the meeting was to be addressed by the candidates, but he hardly knew whether he was a candidate or not as he was only to be a candidate in a contingency.

Mr. Noble gave way to Mr. H. H. Grafton, candidate for the legislature. Mr. Grafton is one of the most eloquent speakers in the county and he spoke for some time, holding the strict attention of the audience and frequently eliciting its applause. He received a cheering ... that the republican party in November next.

At the close of Mr. Grafton's remarks the president announced that there was a stranger present whom he wished to present and who would address them for a few moments. He then introduced Mr. J. R. Burton of Abilene, Kan., who has just returned from the state of Maine, where he has been making speeches for the republican ticket. Mr. Burton has an easy manner, a good voice and his words flow freely, at times eloquently. He made the speech of the evening, dwelling upon the history of the two parties of the candidates and the issues of the campaign.

Following Mr. Burton, Gen. F. M. Clark of Denver, who was ... of the late republican state convention, spoke for a few minutes. Mr. Clark gave considerable of his time to eulogizing the candidates on the state ticket and spoke of the influence wielded by the El Paso delegation in the convention, as did others of the speakers.

The chair announced that the last speaker of the evening would be Hon. W. S. Jackson of this city. Mr. Jackson only arose in his chair and occupied but a few moments of the time of the meeting. He rapidly and forcibly ... a glowing tribute to Hon. J. A. Cooper, the candidate for governor, and expressed the belief that he would be elected by the largest vote ever cast for governor in this state. Mr. Jackson said that many persons had been pleased to call him a "mugwump," and he gloried in being an independent voter. He said he every voter should be able to give an intelligent reason for his vote, but he was an independent republican who had always voted with the republican party in national politics when he had voted, for the reason he had seen nothing better to do. Now that the solid south which had unequivocally and absolutely declared for free trade, when free to make its choice, would come into power and control of this government, if the democratic party were successful, the duty of every voter was clear as the industrial interests of the nation were threatened. ... of the controlling forces in the party which are clearly the free trade south in the ... ratic party. "Soap Bubble" will be one of the funniest comedies ever seen in this city The company appears here on Friday and Saturday evenings

Mr A H Harrison, who has the contract for building the new hotel at Glenwood Springs, left for that city on Sunday evening to remain all the week.

Mr Will Lowther has sold his interest in the bakery and restaurant firm of Lowther Brothers to his brother, E Lowther He expects to leave with his family for Indiana and the east in a few days

The meeting of the republican club will be very interesting this evening as a number of the candidates will be present and deliver addresses. The firemen's band will be present and discourse music before and after the meeting

The Colorado excursion of Odd Fellows to the Grand Lodge and National Encampment in California will reach this city this evening at 5 o'clock City Clerk H C McCreery and others from this city will join the excursion.

The Chicago Lumber company of Kansas having made an assignment, that is reported as having failed, is in no way connected with the Chicago Lumber company, proper, whose headquarters is in the city of Chicago, and who have a branch yard in this city.

The five o'clock D. & R. G. train for Denver last evening had two special cars attached containing the Pueblo delegates to the state democratic convention. The cars were decorated with flags and banners and Schreiber's band accompanied the party, which was shouting strong with Judge A. Royal at the head.

The Colorado Springs Ladies' base ball team composed of fathers of this city went to Monument Sunday and in a style peculiar to this city when playing base ball with strangers knocked the Monument team out by a score of 17 to 9. The Monument team will try to redeem itself in this city next Sunday.

The musical programme this evening at the Congregational church will consist of a pleasant variety of trios, solos, duets and quartetts, both vocal and instrumental under the direction of Miss Celeste Bruner. The members of the choir have kindly consented to assist the ladies with this very pleasing addition to a social evening. A small admittance of ten cents will be charged at the door. The exercises will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. After which the ladies will serve tea coffee ice cream and cake in the parlors, which it is hoped will be liberally patronized by the friends of the church.

The Philadelphia Times has the following notice of "Soap Bubble," the new farce by which will be seen here on the 14th and 15th of this month. "At the National theatre T. J. Farron has been seen in his play, The Soap Bubble. Of course the piece is as light as the thing from which it derives its name, but it nevertheless compares favorably with any of the new numerous productions of its kind. It is full of irresistible fun and replete with good songs choruses and quartettes. Mr Farron won much applause by his comicalities and his singing and was ably supported by Ed J Connelly and the rest of his company. The singing of Virginia Ross was especially commendable, and Miss Dolly Foster won and held the favor of the audience by her peculiar specialties and cuteness. Her singing of her two Irish songs was excellent. The business was very good."

Miss Jeanette McLean, widely and most favorably known as having had charge for some years of the house on Pike's Peak Avenue known as "Woodside" season to open for boarders the spacious and attractive house recently erected by Rev Mr Dickey on the west side of Cascade avenue near Platte In anticipation of this event some twenty five or thirty persons who gratefully remembered Miss McLean's unwearied solicitude and kindness while they were her guests assembled on Saturday evening last at the house of Mrs Blackman and surprised Miss McLean at once by the beautiful gifts which they brought. Many friends who had formerly shared Miss McLean's hospitality but are no longer residing in the city, did not forget to send tokens of their affection from afar. It is said that Guiteau has become very religious. There is hope for Zola.

General Harrison said "the republican party is hospitable to truth. It never shuns debate." It is for this reason that the party has so many ... speakers.

Every good member thinks for himself and refuses to put his conscience in the keeping of any boss.

The Maine election is always considered an index of the presidential election. The democrats knew this and made an earnest canvass, not with the hope of electing the democratic candidate for governor but of reducing the republican majority. The election in Maine was the first ... of the ... and Harrison in 1840, as it is now the sure harbinger of the ... success in 1888.

The ratification meeting at the court house hall last night, a report of which appears in this paper, was a wonderfully spirited and enthusiastic affair. The ... and the interest was maintained throughout, continuing until a late hour. While the meeting was but little advertised the house was crowded with earnest and intelligent listeners showing that much enthusiasm is already aroused in the canvass and that the republicans of this section will give a good account of themselves on the day of election.

It has been quite the thing for all Englishmen down to Matthew Arnold to criticise the American press for its personalities and impurity, notwithstanding the fact that the papers in London have published articles which no New York paper would publish. But one Englishman with a level head has been here. He says:

"I have learned to admire the American press, although I refer to the country at large rather than to its great dailies. In many respects it is far superior to the English press, even in the matter of dignity and decency, the two characteristics with which we are generally supposed to credit you. I am quite sure that Burke would have said something very different to you in regard to the American press were he living today. Having said this much, I may be allowed to add that you still have a few ... specimens of the type which he satirized, but I would say on behalf of the respectable that they are ... to adopt the American practice, for they seem to wish the ... of their ... reporting ... publicity. But it is only fair to add that we have plenty of the same class of papers in England."

We are glad to announce that a Political Portrait of Mr J. A. Cooper by "Fitz Mac" will be published in next DAILY GAZETTE. As these portraits are ... to appear in book form it is ... to state that the next governor of Colorado should be in the gallery. "Fitz Mac" is a very shrewd political manager as well as clever political writer. It is well known that Mr Cooper was ... a candidate ... before the meeting of the convention and had not even a personal ... with any of the politicians of the state. "Fitz Mac" introduces Mr Cooper to the people of the state in such a way that a week before the convention ... met, the majority of the party saw that his nomination was the only safe nomination to make. His management of the canvass during the convention was the shrewdest piece of political work that we have known in Colorado. If Fitz Mac chose, he could tell us in this article how to succeed in a political convention without making or entering into any combinations and how to make other makers do what they did not wish to.

MANAGEMENT OF STATE FINANCES.

We give a large amount of the space on this page to an article from the Herald Democrat on the management of our state finances. We have strictly endorsed the resolutions presented by Mr. Davis to the state convention. We now cheerfully commend the ... of an editorial by Mr. Dunn in the place of last Sunday. He puts the whole subject clearly and forcibly as follows:

"The state treasurership is a responsible as well as an honorable trust. It calls for capacity of the highest order and first class financial ability. A ... bond is required of the incumbent such an one as can ordinarily only be furnished by a person of known and ... moral quality. Such talent and such worth should be well compensated. A man who can give an approved bond for a million dollars should be well paid for the security which he thus furnishes the state, and for the service he renders the commonwealth. His pay should be based upon what the service and the security are worth—no more, no less. Colorado's surplus cash could be secured in the best ... company in the world for one-quarter of one per cent. The custodian of its funds could be bonded by the commonwealth for $5 and a year as custodian of railways and other large corporations are bonded. Should the state pay more for a personal bond than for the security which can be given by the Fidelity company of New York or the Guarantee company of North America? If so upon what business ... principles? This proposition conceded, there remains to be considered only the value of the clerical services of the incumbent. We will undertake to say that $2,500 per annum will procure as good talent as the duties of the position require. This being granted we have $4,500 as the sum of the value to the state of an efficient and ... safe custodian of the commonwealth's cash. Let us add five hundred more to the figure and fix the salary of the state treasurer at $5,000. That is as ... It is no more than we pay to our chief executive, who is expected to spend three times that sum in the entertainment of guests of the state. It is infinitely more than is paid for like service and similar responsibility in any of the departments of the federal government. Why should it not be sufficient to compel the services of all types of a ... competent and an entirely reliable man for treasurer of the state of Colorado?

"We are led to these reflections and these conclusions by the preamble and resolutions, touching state finances, adopted by the late republican convention at Denver. ... follows:

"WHEREAS, There is now on deposit in various banks of this state more than $1,500,000 current funds from which the state derives no benefit or income; and

"WHEREAS, The treasurer is handling a large debt due from the state, upon which interest is accumulating, which must be paid with the debt; and

"WHEREAS, Under the existing laws the money cannot be appropriated to the different funds and then applied to the liquidation of this debt, therefore be it

"Resolved, That this convention earnestly recommend such legislation as shall provide for the reduction of this debt and the application of this large surplus to its payment and that the legislature take effective action to prevent all future accumulations, and to provide for the investment, for the use and benefit of the state of Colorado, of all funds not immediately applicable to current obligations.

"Interpreted, this means that the state of Colorado, while paying 8 per cent interest upon a large ... debt, has a million of dollars of surplus cash which it permits its chief bookkeeper to parcel out to the various banks of the state for his own use and benefit.

"This license to a subordinate has resulted in the creation of a prize valued at fifty thousand dollars to be fought ... two years.

"It permits the treasurer's office to dominate the politics of the entire state.

"It places every office in the gift of the people at the disposal of the incumbent.

"It arrays the banking interest of the commonwealth against the people.

"It creates a powerful moneyed combination, which has been able to dictate nominations from governor down to regents of the university.

"It has corrupted the politics of Colorado, and it has become a positive menace to republican supremacy in the Centennial state.

"It will become a more threatening factor year by year, as the accumulations in the various funds increase in volume.

"It will soon make the income of the state treasurer greater than that of the president of the United States.

"It has already made that subordinate a political autocrat, dominating all other concerns.

"Why should such an evil as this be allowed to continue? What reason is there in it? What sense is there in it? What good purpose is to be subserved by it? Is it permitted by any other state in the union? Is it tolerated anywhere but in Colorado? No.

"Every other state has the most stringent laws governing the disposition and custody of the public funds. In some of them no ... in office is ... from allowing a dollar to pass ... [illegible] ... The laws of the Buckeye state make it a point of ... for state or county treasurers to deposit the public moneys in ... banks of ... throughout the state, and in controlling the destiny of the commonwealth.

"The people of Colorado do just this thing. They have done it ever since the state was admitted. But they must do it no longer. The great republican party has, by the adoption of the resolution quoted above, committed itself to the reform of this evil. It has declared that it must be stamped out. It has said to the republican members of the legislature that they must, at the coming session, pass such laws as will make all idle money applicable to the payment of ... of the state debt, and that shall hereafter prevent large accumulations in the hands of the treasurer.

"The action of the republican state convention ... was unanimous—[illegible] ... form an issue in this campaign, and one that cannot be conveniently dodged."

SENATE

WASHINGTON, September 11.—The house amendment to the senate bill for a ... for the widow of C. ... Hendricks, reducing the amount from $100 to $75 a month was non-concurred in, and a conference was ordered.

Sherman, from the committee on finance, reported a senate bill to declare unlawful trusts and combinations in restraining trade and production. Placed on the calendar.

The bill for the allowance of certain private claims known as "Fourth of July" claims, numbering 690, and carrying an aggregate appropriation of $180,000, caused a long heated political discussion including an attack on, and defense of, President Cleveland's pension policy.

Harris inquired of the chairman of the committee on claims as to another of these claims bills passed by the house many months ago and referred to that committee.

Spooner replied that the bill as it came from the house appropriated $155,000, but amendments had been offered to it by senators until now it aggregates $466,000. The committee on claims had referred the bill to him and he had looked into several of the claims in the bill as passed upon by the court of claims, and found that the findings of the court were not sustained by the testimony.

The senate then took up consideration of the Chinese exclusion bill and was addressed by Cockrell in favor of it.

He was followed by Mr Teller who criticised the manner in which the Chinese exclusion bill had been introduced into and passed hurriedly through the house.

The bill went over till to-morrow without action.

Plumb offered a resolution, which was adopted, requesting the president to transmit to the senate all correspondence or communications concerning the ... Chinese treaty between the state department, the American minister to China or any other representative or agent of the United States in China or elsewhere.

Adjourned.

HOUSE

The house resumed the consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill the pending amendment being that relative to the reclamation of the arid regions. A long discussion on the amendment followed.

Weaver, of Iowa, urged the necessity of reserving a portion of the arid lands available for reservoir purposes.

Vandever of California and Symes of Colorado favored the senate amendment, which was attacked by Herbert of Alabama. Finally the debate ended and the appropriation in the senate amendment was reduced from $750,000 to $100,000.

Holman offered a resolution for the senate amendment, providing that the necessary expenses for carrying on the work of surveys shall be paid from the appropriation for topographic survey of the United States, and suspending the operations of the desert land law during the pendency in congress of legislation looking to its repeal.

The vote resulted yeas 61, nays 73, no quorum.
